

VERMONT LAW REVIEW

VOLUME 30 NUMBER 3

SPRING 2006

ESSAYS

INTRODUCTION

Accommodating Diversity: The Present and Future of the Law of Diversity: An Introduction Francesco Palermo 431

CONSTITUTIONAL LAW

The Attitude of Courts and Public Institutions
Towards the Multicultural Reality Manuel Carrasco Durán 443
Constitutional Recognition of Diversity in Canada Colleen Sheppard 463
Comment on Accommodating Differences in Constitutional Law Gil Kujovich 489

INTERNATIONAL LAW

“United in Diversity”? Problems of State- and Nation-Building in Post-Conflict Situations: The Case of Bosnia-Herzegovina Joseph Marko 503
The Difficult Acceptance of Diversity Peter Leuprecht 551
International Law and the Diversity of Indigenous Peoples Alessandro Fodella 565
Indigenous Peoples, Culturally Specific Rights, and Domestic Courts: A Response to Professor Fodella Pamela J. Stephens 595
The Punishment of Negationism:
The Difficult Dialogue Between Law and Memory Emanuela Fronza 609
Response to Professor Fronza’s The Punishment of Negationism Pascale Bloch 627
An Essay on Professor Fronza’s Essay:
Should Holocaust Denial Be Criminalized? Linda O. Smiddy 645
Making “Holocaust Denial” a Crime:
Reflections on European Anti-Negationist Laws from the Perspective of U.S. Constitutional Experience Peter R. Teachout 655

COMPANY AND LABOR LAW

The Present and Future of the Law of Diversity:
Antidiscrimination in Employment and European Law Stefania Scarponi 693
Diversity and Labor Law in France Pascale Bloch 717
Accommodating Differences: Discrimination and Equality at Work in the International Labor Law Matteo Borzaga 749
Why Does Form Matter? The Hybrid Governance
Structure of Makivik Corporation Richard Janda 785
Responding to Professor Janda—The U.S. Experience:
The Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANCSA)
Regional Corporation as a Form of Social Enterprise Linda O. Smiddy 823

PRIVATE LAW

Consumer Law as an Instance of the Law of Diversity Luisa Antonioli 855
Diversity Tools in Private Relationships: A French Point of View Cyrille Duvert 883
Civil Union, A Reappraisal Greg Johnson 891
Why Marriage Still Matters: A Response to Professor
Greg Johnson’s Essay, Civil Union, A Reappraisal Susan B. Apel 913
Private Suppliers of Law: Diversity for Lawmakers Arianna Pretto-Sakmann 921